7. Seeing that the object of acquiring lands and alienating them to towns for extensions is often frustrated by overcrowding in allotted sites and by the construction of ill-lighted and ill-ventilated houses, of houses not sufficiently raised from the ground and of houses ill provided against rats in roof and floor, the purchaser shall scrupulously adhere to all the conditions herein.

8. Upon breach of any of the above conditions it shall be open to the President to resume the site upon a week's notice with all constructions thereon and to sell the site and constructions in a public sale or to anybody he likes. The purchaser will be entitled to receive the realizations by sale minus the costs incident to the sale. He will not be entitled to complain that the realizations are disproportionate to the expenses incurred by him He will not be entitled to receive back the value of the site paid to the Municipality.

9. The President will be at liberty, for reasons to be explained by him in writing, to relax any of the above conditions provided that such relaxation does not interfere with the spirit of the condition.

10. Whether any case calls for the operation of the preceding clause would be solely for the President to judge.

11. In the case of those whose means would not allow of houses as described in para 2 supra, other suitable specification will be imposed. As it is undesirable that houses affording little protection against the plague or other epidemic should stand near houses built at some cost in order to secure the needed protection, the President will, in each case, select the locality and site. Sites for houses to be built according to para 2 supra will be indicated by the letter A and the other sites by the letter B.
